The following prayer
was received Aug. 15, 1964

Mary Fleming

Our beloved, loving, Heavenly Father:

You are loving and patient and kind and understanding - but You also hate! It is said that You first created light and darkness, and that You separated the light from the darkness, and that You called the light Good. But You did not call the darkness good, Father. You separated good and evil, wisdom from ignorance.

We who love the Light we have seen, who seek Your love so desperately, often forget that You hate the darkness, that the anger and anguish You feel comes from the evil and ignorance which dwells in the darkness. We become so enamored of love that we forget to hate as You hate.

You have given us one great mission, Father -- to subjugate evil. To separate ourselves from the darkness forever. Until we do this, we cannot be with You, for You cannot look upon evil. And, Father, WE HAVE FAILED! It is we who keep ourselves out of Your Kingdom. And it is we who bar the gate so that others may not enter. For we tolerate evil and ignorance in and around ourselves. We allow ourselves to be invaded and used by evil and ignorant forces. We let them into our lives and our homes, let them dominate our thinking, our moods, our actions.

As long as we feel and act' so, Father, we can never be with You. We are barred forever from the Tree of Life.

Help us, Father. Help us to be tolerant and patient and understanding with those who are not yet aware of Your new dispensation. But teach us to be intolerant, angry, dynamically opposed to evil and ignorance within our own midst, Father. Let us love what You love with every fiber of our being -- but let us also hate what You hate with all the vigor at our command. Help us not to be weak and vascillating, Father. Help us to realize that there is no room in Your Kingdom for those who will not take a positive stand against the forces of darkness. Help us to know that where one succeeds, all succeed; but where one fails, we all fail. Help us to recognize our responsibilities, Father, And let us never be guilty of keeping one from Your Kingdom, whether it be ourselves, each other, or those who would follow us.

Make us wise and strong, Father. Help us not to get so busy doing Your work that we neglect to do Your Will. For as long as we fail our missions, Father, Your Kingdom cannot be established on earth. You have told us the Kingdom begins with us and spreads from us, but if we do not fight darkness with all our energy, how can Your Kingdom grow? We who like to think of ourselves as Your children, Your Family, Your representatives - we will not be allowed!

Help us to fight, Father. Teach us love, but teach us also hate, that we may be purified. There is nothing we want more than to be with You, to dwell forever in the Light. But we're not ready, Beloved -- not until we can ruthlessly destroy every vestige of evil and ignorance which appears in and around us.

Teach us Your anger, Father, Your wrath. Let us not allow darkness as you do not allow darkness. Teach us to follow the path so well-worn and well-marked by those who led the way to You. They did not tolerate the presence of evil. They did not allow Satan the slightest foothold. They were not charitable and kind toward ignorance and unbelief. They did not use lack of knowledge as an excuse for lack of discrimination. They fought, Father, with all their strength,

Help us to be strong, Father. Help us to banish that which has no place in Your Kingdom. You are lonely, Father, and we feel Your loneliness. But as long as we tolerate darkness, we can do nothing to relieve Your grief.

Make us strong, Father, as You are strong, as our Mother is strong, as our Master, Your son, is strong. It is in his name we pray. Amen.

(Never, since I began receiving in 1960, have I had such a spiritual reaction to a message. It has continued now for two days, and at times I feel that the depth of the pain is unbearable. I have thought that I would rather do anything else, be anyone else, have any other mission, or pay any physical price, rather than to continue in this spiritual agony of despair.

It is not despair for myself, nor for other members of the Family, nor for mankind as a whole. It is the despair of our Father who waits alone in His Garden, watching with anguish the antics of we who profess to be His children.

Yes, we're busy. Yes, we're dedicated. Yes, we seek Him and His Truth, and His Kingdom. — how often in this busyness have I allowed an ignorant spirit to dictate my mood so that I become testy, difficult to live with, moody, depressed, arrogant, short-tempered, or superior? These are not evil spirits. They're just unenlightened, stupid, ill-informed. And, I think, I will enlighten them. They'll learn from me. Maybe they will, in time, but what is happening meanwhile? I'm being held back from spiritual advancement. And, because I'm part of the whole and what I allow holds back everyone else in the Family, I'm also restricting your advancement.

But worse than all of this is the grief of our brokenhearted Father who watches my tolerance through tear-filled eyes. For, as long as I allow myself to be united with any product of darkness (ignorance, unbelief) I am still a blend of good and evil, and will not be allowed in the Kingdom.

This is bad for me, but: it is unbearable to God.

It is inaction rather than action that causes it. It is weakness, false love and false pride, And deep, deep pain.)

It is possible that some of you have forgotten what has been told to you so many times, namely, the Heart of the Father is always directed toward the good of His children. What father wishes to see his children suffer? True, they may suffer needlessly, if they do not heed the advice of their parents, or even not seek the wisdom that is available to them, Do you see? Many times you have felt pain, as mankind has, for generations, and why? Because you have not chosen to heed a greater authority, but acted as though all wisdom and knowledge came from yourself alone. How well has this way of thinking availed man until now? The answer is apparent, everywhere around you, and within each of you. Until you understand that the Heart of the Father is and can be known only if you seek to know it, then you will feel much pain, for you will not be in harmony with Him; therefore causing Him also grief and pain because His children do not acknowledge Him.

You say, "I know what He wants, what He feels." But do you, really? When did you last ask? When did you talk to Him and share with Him your Joy as well as your problems? Have you looked about you and seen Him, really, in this world that you move about in, every day? Do not make the mistake of living only for and in some future time or world when all will be well. There is much to be gained now, each moment, if you only attune yourselves. You indeed do you~Father an injustice if you do any yourselves completely or feel guilty for any enjoyment you might experience. How can you be so foolish? How many times have you been told that complete extremes, in most ways are not actually His Will? You say, "but am I not to serve Him with all my heart, and mind, and soul? Am I not to love Him completely, and do His Will, and only His Will?" This is true, but have you found yourself saying fe-cently, "I would like to do this, but I do z ~ have the time now. There are too many things to be done for Him, spreading His Word?" My children do not really know me, They make a great show of doing My work, yet go around with doleful expressions because they have limited themselves, and therefore their spiritual growth, and therefore Me!! Do you really think this earth was built for two centuries from now? Do you really believe that everything in the physical world is evil? As beauty is in the eye of the beholder, so therefore is evil, Be sure you know My Heart before you condemn everything as being from Satan. It is possible you are granting to him (Satan) that which is not rightfully his, just as the Christians have granted the crucifixion as being My Will,

My Heart is sad indeed, for My children do not let Me enjoy My creation. They tell Me I must wait, until there is time for them to enjoy it, When, oh when will you give back to Me what is Mine? Do you think that I have not been sad long enough? How can you expect to be in your rightful position someday if you do not now start appreciating that which is around you. You feel guilty! Why? Have you not yet learned that because you like something, or receive pleasure from it, does not mean it is necessarily wrong or sinful? You are interpreting, you are being deceived!! Examine carefully your attitudes in this area, for you are still blind, you do not know Me, if you can say that My love for you, which is greater than any you have known before, wants you to know nothing but sorrow and pain. How foolish My children are still!

Twice now today, you have felt my anger, My children do not really love Me. How could you, when you do not trust Me? You do not trust Me enough to turn to Me; you do not trust Me enough to have faith that you will be taken care of. You think Me a poor father, evidently, for you act as though I will not protect you. You don't feel that your physical ills can be cured by Me -- then how do you expect Me to heal your spirit? Oh, ye of little faith! You are still children of Satan!!

Physical Health

Rec'd 8/6/64

There are three possible reasons for the ill health so many of you appear to be suffering. You will have to determine into which category you fall.

The first type, and the most prevalent, is occasioned by your spiritual growth. In the past, your spiritual growth has been slow and gradual, allowing ample opportunity for your physical body to adjust to the change. Surely it is no secret to you that your physical body alters along with your spirit. Your body is constantly in the midst of an electrical field (your spirit) while you are awake. As that electrical field changes vibrational activity, as the charge gets higher and higher, your body must adjust to it. Now, however, you are growing much more rapidly. Like a child learning to walk a fence, you swing wildly from one extreme to another while trying to maintain your balance. One day your charge is very high; the next it is low. Occasionally you fall.

Your body faithfully registers all of these activities, and struggles manfully to keep up the pace. But, as you are drawing so heavily on the element of vitality with which it provides you, you are necessarily experiencing occasional periods of extreme fatigue while your body catches up.

We have suggested one or two changes in your habits to help you deal with this. One is to watch your eating more carefully, to keep it simple and natural, rather than merely convenient. Another is to weigh carefully on what you will expend your energy. Do not waste it on doing things of little or no value to the Kingdom, And be wise in your activities for the Kingdom as well. Although nothing is ever wasted, it is foolish to spend too much of your available time and energy in something that will not reap a harvest -- or that would reap a harvest without quite so much energy being expended.

Do not be ruled by your body, but listen to it, If you feel drained of energy, it may be time for a sabbath. Pause and consider how wisely you are spending yourself, and make such adjustments as seem necessary. Stop to receive the Divine Love and Wisdom of our Father regarding your own activities. Rest and let your spirit renew itself and your body catch up. Soon you will be able to walk the fence without swaying.

This does not cover all the physical problems, however, because some are experiencing pain and disability as well. This is restitution, and whether it is being demanded by God or by Satan, your action is the same. If you will observe, the ailment will frequently strike in a location which makes it difficult or impossible for you to proceed with your work. If required to think or read, you will have headaches: to talk, your voice will be affected: to write, your shoulders, arms, hands, neck, or back will be struck; to travel, your legs will present problems; to be cheerful and outgoing, your attention will be directed inward.

In any case, it is a spiritual test and your direction should be more than ever toward your Heavenly Father. This is not to imply that medical assistance should not be sought if it seems indicated. Whatever can be done to allow you to continue with God's work, should be done. But don't overlook the spiritual aspects, and be sure you take the proper steps to renew your pledge to God and your accusation of Satan. Your suffering will not be lost, nor does your courage go unnoticed. The hosts of heaven weep with you, and God's heart is gladdened by your fortitude. A little longer only, and all will rejoice!

The following message was received by Mary Fleming, August 6-7, 1964, in answer to a question regarding involvement in current or forthcoming political events:

There are many people and groups who are unwittingly working for the Kingdom in accordance with the Will of our Father. All are worthy; all deserve support. But they are working on symptoms, not on the cause of evil. Those who have the Truth should not expend energy on side issues,

It is difficult for those dedicated to material issues to perceive the spiritual aspects of their interests. Doctors, for instance, while admitting that healing occurs by action of God, still spend the bulk of their time and energies on the mechanics of their profession. Many prayers have gone up on both sides of a battlefield asking for the assistance of God before men went out to slay their brothers.

People get caught up in their own activities, convinced they are doing the Will of God in fighting injustice. In a sense they are right. Injustice is against the Will of God. But they do not have the whole picture. They see only one room of the mansion.

The objective is to redirect their energies, to tell them Truth so they, too, may see from the top of the mountain. Is this best done by joining with their efforts? In a restricted sense, yes. In order to contact those who are prepared, you must go where they are. But do you become embroiled with their way of thinking?

You have some of the Truth, but not all of it. You know the basics, but do you know the details? It is your job to convert those who are worshipping false idols, but can you always distinguish the false from the true?

You are close to God, which means you will be attacked from all sides by the forces of evil. It is up to you to foresee the dangers and avoid giving Satan an opportunity to distract you. Are you wise enough for this? What better way to diminish your efforts than by diverting your talents to worldly problems. You are not yet out of Satan's camp, and he will use all his wiles to see that you stay in it. Be cautious that you do not play into his hands.

There is another factor. You are representatives of God and His Family. As such representatives, everything you do will be watched and noted. In activities which are not clearly God's Will, can you afford to appear partisan? Will you not thereby give ground for accusation? As guides to those who are not yet grafted in, can you so restrict their freedom of choice?

The causes for freedom and the seeking therefor are indeed signs of the times. All have their place in the Plan. But is there not more to be considered by those who are working for the freedom of the world? Do not reckon without influence those who do not yet know of the Plan. Much will occur which fulfills Will by those more distant from God. You have many evidences of this already,

Each one must seek his own mission. But remember always that your mission is greater than that which you see immediately at hand. Do that which is at hand and prepare yourselves for greater things to come, Be cautious that you do not run before you are fully able to walk, for that way lies danger.

BEWARE THE FAMILIAR SPIRIT!

Jim Fleming

Last week in our meeting, someone was reading from the Book of Samuel about Saul consulting with a familiar spirit. From somewhere in the recesses of my mind, the phrase that is the title of this paper came forth and asserted itself with plaguing regularity. Later that afternoon, I re-read the passages in Samuel that had been read earlier, Somehow the word 'familiar' seemed out of place in our modern language.

I was led to look up the word in that profound but little used book... the dictionary. Here is what I learned:

Fa-mil-iar: 1. (Archaic) Of or pertaining to a family; domestic. 2. a, Closely acquainted or intimate, b. Having an intimate knowledge of. 3. (Archaic) a. Easy; affable; accessible. b. Unduly or wrongly intimate; bold. c. Unconstrained; as, familiar conversation.

The third definition marked as Archaic, seemed to possibly fit the reference and intent of the words in Samuel. I thought I could be on the right track. And then, as though someone were questioning me, came the thought "and what is the spirit of love?" Of course: The answer was clear. I hardly needed to look up Paul's well-known and oft-quoted statement in I Corinthians 13: Love is patient, kind, not jealous or boastful, not arrogant or rude. The Spirit of Love does not insist on its own way, It is not irritable or resentful. It does not rejoice at wrong but rejoices in the right, The Spirit of Love bears, believes, hopes, and endures all things.

According to Leviticus, God chose the Israelites as His own people, severed from all other people, A man or woman who had a familiar spirit should be put to death, completely cut off from God's chosen people. Saul followed this admonition but then, since he had found disfavor with God by disobedience, he compounded God's disfavor by turning to consult a woman who had a familiar spirit, First Chronicles states that Saul died for his transgression against the Lord, even against the word of the Lord, which he did not keep and also for asking counsel of one who had a familiar spirit rather than the Lord. There are other references which you may look up for yourself, but I think the point is clear. At least it is to me.

As mankind approaches the stage of perfection and as the spirit of the Paradise and lo er regions is poured forth, we will no doubt encounter many who have 'familiar spirits'. Many of us already have encountesed those who seem to be very open and receptive to the spirit world. It seems to me that we must be prepared to recognize those who are under the guidance of 'familiar spirits' and those who are under the guidance of the 'spirit of love'. There is an immense difference.

Should we take guidance from the spirit realm? speaking for myself only, I certainly intend to do so whenever it is available. However, I now feel better qualified to judge in what spirit that guidance is given, Hopefully, there are spirits ready to offer guidance that are more mature than my own, Our Father's is one and Miss Kim's is another. Hopefully, again, with such guidance and wisdom as is available, I may develop my own spirit into one that meets the qualifications of the "Spirit of Love,"

Dear Family,

Mrs. Myrtle Hurd

The bond that unites us into such a personal love and concern really becomes evident when some of our group goes out. We miss Alexa and Moon Hye so much. Having the opportunity to be so closely associated with Col. Pak, they certainly grew fast. I know they will be tremendous in New York.

After we see it in operation, Divine Principle is like gravity. Who can deny it? Who can ever doubt that our Leader is Christ? Sometimes I think people reject it simply because it disrupts their lives to investigate it. Most everyone responds a little differently, depending on what their incrustations are made of. For some, it is made of simple indifference, some fear, others prejudice. Emotion rejects it many times, Reason and logic and a belief in the love of God cannot. Often, in discussing this new Truth for the first time with people, I bring out the fact that there isn't a facet of life that isn't undergoing a revolution. It seems that it should follow that we would be given a spiritual truth also.

Last night, one of our class whom we all love and hope for, asked the question, "How do we achieve union with God?" I tried to tell but the more I tried the more I realized how futile it is to try to tell what is in the heart. Col. Pak stood up and in four words he said it, "We have an EXAMPLE -- to follow! to understand! to recognize the beauty that defies all attempts of description, to look at Him and believe with all our heart that this is the Man God meant to create!"

To make it even more glorious, some of us have seen the bottom of the ugliness in man, and we can be grateful for that. From now on I shall never forget how the scales are out of balance. God will never accept us as His true children until the balance is made. How to do it -- pretty prayers, songs, and words? No! The only way is to take off of our side of the scales and place it on the other side. Each act of sacrifice lightens us and raises us a little also -- it makes God's side a little heavier so he will lean down a little and He will be overjoyed to do so. He wants us to have the blessing of lordship so much. He can hardly wait. Finally, when we have given 100%, we match what He requires of us which is only 5% of the whole endeavor. How His heart will rejoice!

My scale is so out of balance that it scares me and I bow my head in shame, because I have seen and heard. My responsibility is greater than those who have not; even greater than those who have rejected it, because somehow I feel that even that ability was given to me - because it was so easy for me to recognize Him. With greatest love in his mighty name.

Dear Family,

We are going full strength - going out every day. It is very hard to get anyone to even listen - but it will be done! Every Monday night, we meet in Frankfurt. Some people are studying with us. About 10 days ago, I was 'kicked out' of a Bible meeting by a high-priest:, so I went to another one - much indemnity has to be paid, I'm hopeful for the future! Our thanks go always to our Beloved Father! In His Name.

News from Oakland

Dear Family,

Jim Adams

Over the weekend, I walked from Alameda to the Martin's house. During the 2 1/4 hour trek, I memorized a page of the Principle. Twice, I almost lost my neckerchief, & again the wind untied it and took it away - I thought, all the world needs to be freed, and it is being freed by the Spirit! At the center, we shared examples of freeing things, and this reminded me of the restoration of mankind and all things. Ideas were -- freeing the woodwork from dirt, and freeing a tree in the backyard from winding, crippling morning glory.

Lee Harvey Oswald shot with a $12.50 rifle a man who tried to help the world. This was a great tragedy. Even during the mourning period, many gun collectors all over the world began centering their attention on the cheap death weapon. Soon the mail order firm Oswald patronized began selling out their stock of the rifle he used to kill the president. In connection with this, I think of another death which was a great triumph for our enemy, Satan, that of the crucifixion of Jesus. The Jewish death weapon upon which Jesus died, worn by millions as a symbol of his death, the great tragedy, increases the pain which men have felt for thousands of years. The faithfulness of people who belong to Satan to wear his "medals" of cross or gun, lead them to the front lines. They blindly, but faithfully go forth, out of duty. Love to all the truly wonderful family.

A Testimony from Los Angeles

Carole Johnson

I was born in the midwest. My family was both small and conservative, and for the most part, I led a quiet, sheltered life. I was a quiet, pensive, studious child, and though I liked sports and playing with other children, I enjoyed most the times by myself when I was reading or just thinking. My church was Methodist Episcopal and my parents were very conscientious members. I loved to go to church because I felt very close to God; and I wanted more than anything else to be good. When I was twelve, I felt extremely close to God and when I joined the church formally, I felt I was truly inspired. From the age of twelve to a-

about fourteen, while I aspired to be perfect in God's sight, I began to hear voices. They would whine, and mock and tease unceasingly, until I would clamp my hands over my ears in an effort to shut them out. Whenever they began, I would pray to drown them out and eventually they would go away. I didn't tell anyone about them, because I thought I was losing my mind. By the time I was fifteen, I didn't hear them anymore,

During this time, I had a desire to be a missionary. This was gradually replaced by a growing desire to be a nun, thanks to the inspiration of my music teacher who was one. Because of her, I chose to attend the Catholic college at which she was a professor. I thrived in the religious atmosphere and finally made my decision to become a Catholic and a nun. As I walked into the Dean's office to tell her, something stopped me, I realized I couldn't do it because there were several points in the Catholic dogma which I couldn't bring myself to accept.

I completed my education and came to California where I married and settled down. Always there was a hunger in my heart which caused me to continue searching. I couldn't find what I was looking for in the churches I visited, so I stopped going. Seven years have since passed and twice during that period I have had very serious emotional upheavals. Once, during the fall of 1960 after my best friend died suddenly and again in the spring of this year I gradually lost control of myself and everything became chaotic. I became desperate for guidance and help. This time I'm afraid I overlooked God completely in searching for my answer.

On the 3rd of July, I had a holiday from work and I felt a compulsion to call Shirley Robinson early that morning. Shirley and Wilson (Peter) Robinson have been friends of my husband's and mine for nearly seven years. I found myself pouring out all my troubles, anxieties and fears to her. She listened quietly for awhile and then began asking me many questions, most of which I couldn't answer, at least not directly. Finally, she told me that she would like very much for me to go with Wilson and her to hear a lecture the following night. She said their lives had been changed drastically by going. I consented to go.

Shirley had warned me the day before that Satan would put many things in my path to keep me from going. He did, but they just served to make me more determined to go. When we arrived, Doris was speaking to the group of people seated there. I instantly became very shy and humble, and had the feeling that this was indeed a house of worship - far more so than many churches I had visited during my searching. Doris simply overwhelmed me. She told of some of her spiritual experiences and Wilson lectured on Chapters I and II. I accepted everything I heard, because somehow I knew with all my being that this was Truth. By the end of the evening, I was filled with an overwhelming sense of awareness and peace. Back at home, I pondered over what I had so eagerly accepted, and I prayed to God that I might receive guidance. I awoke the following morning, positive that this was indeed the Truth. I could hardly wait to return Monday, the next night, to hear more. Shirley and I went and heard Chapt. III. Doris gave me copies of Chaps. IV and V so that I could study before she came to my home on Wednesday. During the next week, I finally finished the book, and was able to go to the center, where, in answer to my questions, Doris began to tell me of our Leader and even showed me his picture. I was filled with awe and humility. When I think of our Leader, I feel unspeakably humble because I am not worthy so much as to look at His face. And yet, when I remember how much He loves me, I feel spiritually renewed. Ever since I learned of His Coming, I have been afraid to write this testimony, afraid that I would not be able to say the right things. Then, I was awakened by a dream in which the group at the center had contacted the Leader and arranged for him to talk to me. They handed the mouthpiece to me so that I could speak to him, and suddenly I couldn't talk! Everyone kept urging me to say something. Then he began to speak to me. I can't remember anything he said to me, except the first phrase, "Don't be afraid." His voice was so soothing, melodious, and full of love that I felt myself melt. When I arose, I felt at peace. Suddenly I knew that he didn't care whether I said just the 'right things'. He wanted me to write from my heart. What a blessing that knowledge was.

The day is soon coming! Oh, Father in Heaven, I weep tears of joy when I think of it. And yet, my heart is sad when I think of our loving Father who has waited so, so long! How He has suffered! How thankful I am that I was fortunate enough to hear this glorious Truth! I must work to the limits of my capacity each day to prepare myself to spread this Word to all the unfortunate souls who have endlessly been lost, searching, searching for that one ray of hope that will lift them out of the depths and into the radiant sunshine warmth of Father and His Family. I ask your prayers that this work will go forward speedily. May we ever remain faithful and full of love for our Father and Leader. There is so little time --let us not waste one precious moment!

Blessings, Blessings!

Regarding the Arthur Ford tape, this was a long one with many different and somewhat irrelevant items on it, but also some things of exceptional interest. The episode has certainly led to a great many people hearing about Korea and our Leader and to it forming the subject of discussion in a number of different groups, religious and scientific. I was carrying the vibrations from Korea and Arthur Ford duly contacted them, and in view of his reputation as a reliable psychic, discussion about our Leader is going the rounds!

It was recently disclosed that over 8,000 UFOs have been seen and officially reported in the USA during the past 16 years, and allowing for every kind of explanation there are still several hundred that the Government has been quite unable to "explain away": and these sightings were reported by trained or experienced observers such as professional pilots or scientists. The newspapers are now giving wide publicity to these matters and the London Times, our most reputable daily newspaper, recently gave full publicity to a news item that, the American Congress is being urged to settle once and for all whether or not such things exist! Meanwhile, the public is making up its own mind. Among those who recently signed a letter to the Times, which they did NOT publish, were a former president of the Liberal Party (a theologian), a member of Parliament, two electronics experts, two wellknown writers on aeronautical subjects, an official Government Historian, a barrister from the Foreign Office, a Foreign Office linguist, and the High Sheriff of the City of London - an impressive list of people, testifying that the existence of outer space vehicles, intelligently empowered, seemed to them to be established. An increasing number of people are reporting such things. I suppose it is all part and parcel of the "pouring out of the spirit upon all flesh" which is now clearly beginning to manifest in myriad ways!

A movement has just started up in this country of great simplicity but immense potentiality, as the result of contact with those in Spirit, who have said it would be of great value if homes or centres which are dedicated to service should show an ever-burning light, which has been dedicated with conscious intent. It is hoped that there will be a kind of chain-reaction of little lights going up all over the world, and it is certainly one way of spreading seeds which can bring forth spiritual consciousness, and of originating spiritual processes mundanely. For the ordinary person it simply involves an act of faith robed in symbolic form, and it seems that both the light and the intent by spiritual gravitation attract an important response from within the next level of life and consciousness, and an answering light is set up within the etheric counterpart of the room or centre where the material light is displayed. It is this etheric counterpart that then begins to cast its healing and inspiring glow across the dark areas which link our everyday world to higher and more spiritual realms. So, "little lights going up all over the world?" are not only, to those who light them, a continual reminder of their dedication, but they will indeed play their part in hastening the Coming of the Kingdom and the ultimate glorification of the whole of humanity and the planet earth. My love to each and every one of you - In His Name.

Mews from Australia

The following is an excerpt from a report given by Mary Broun - editor of Shalam, a New Age spiritual publication in Australia - after her trip around the world. During her tour, she visited and investigated many religious groups, particularly those aware of this New Age we are now living in: "While I was with the Connors (in San Raphael), I made contact with the Unification Church, founded by Sun Myung Moon of Korea. It was here, in contact with these young emissaries of the Unification Church, that I first began to realize the purpose of my guided tour around the world. These people spoke of Unity - of the Family of God, and the need to claim our rightful heritage and be a member of that Family of God. They spoke of the Power generated by the conscious awareness of our rightful place in the scheme of things. . . of the need to purify BODY, MIND, & SOUL.

"Yes, I felt very much in tune with the Unification Church. You will be getting extracts from their book "Divine Principles" in future issues of Shalam Light. To us at Shalam, it is most significant. The founder, Sun Myung Moon has formed a strong Spiritual Link with the Universal Link in Lancashire & New Zealand. . . ."

A Report from San Francisco

Dear Family,

On July 25th, we commenced erecting the antenna system for our ham-radio station.

Little did we understand the difficulties we would encounter. The roof on which we had to put it, is 58 feet high and very steep. The masts of the antenna is now 9 1/2 feet above the roof, giving us a total of 67 1/2 feet above ground level. Height is very important on radio-transmission. Our antenna is of average height for such an operation,

Our first contact was a 22 year old boy by the name of Chuck who works at the American Express office here in S.F. Our next contact was a Navy boy stationed on Treasure Island. We had several contacts in the Bay Area, to the point that we were wondering whether we would ever get away from here! At last, W7BHP in Great Falls, Montana recognized and answered our call. Since then, we have contacted Alabama, Sante Fe Springs (near LA), and next was another person in LA, whom we attempted to make a 'phone patch' through, but were unable to do so. (A phone patch is when you contact someone in a city where you have a particular person you want to talk to. The 'ham' will phone this person and you can talk as long as you want at their local rate.) So, in the future, we may contact some of you in this way.

Our primary purpose in the use of the ham-band is for communication. The law states that the ham-band is not to be used in any commercial way. However, since churches are not commercial, many church organizations use the ham-band for communications. Our most distant contacts have been Japan - one person 30 miles north of Hiroshima and another in Tokyo. Going the other way, our most distant contact has been Rochester, New York.

As familiarity and personal acquaintances grow through this media, it is our intention to send amateur radio operators as we contact them, to our various centers in the U.S. to hear the entire message. Therefore, it is unnecessary for anyone to consider purchasing equipment for their center. It is our purpose to provide each center with a person already equipped! However, if you should meet a ham, I am quite sure that he would be very happy to attempt to contact any place in the U.S. for you with his station.

We are still in the process of developing an appropriate witnessing technique for this media. We will report the technical aspect of this operation in a future TTT.

When not busy with this new and promising endeavor, we are busy witnessing in this city of San Francisco - hoping to find more children for our Father.

Dear Family,

As I begin this letter, my thoughts go strongly out to each of our members in the world, and especially in America at this time. How our hearts burn to see each other at this time. Nightly as I pray, I feel a strong pull to all parts of the United States and particularly to brothers or sisters who are isolated. My prayer to God is that we can make a strong spiritual condition to shake the people of this country from satanical ways to our Father.. The early Christians in Rome, while only a handful, started a religious revolution that spread like fire. Many gave up everything including their lives. Small as they were, their spiritual unity in God shook the foundations of the Roman Empire. The very future of America depends upon a handful of isolated individuals - us! What we do as individuals, as a body will determine the destiny of thousands of our people, not only in our native country, but the world! GOD IS DEPENDING UPON US!

Last week I took a week off from work and spent it in Dallas with Gordon, Peter, and David. During the day I witnessed at Southern Methodist University and in the evening we either witnessed, studied or lectured. On Friday of that week, Peter Politzski joined us as we witnessed more and spent much time in prayer and study. It was during this week long session that the work in America struck deeply,

During the week we visited a large Methodist church in Dallas where the guest speaker was Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale, wife of the famous theologian, writer, speaker Dr. Peale. Her talk was entitled "The Church - 1964". Having returned from a tour around the world visiting many countries she spoke first of the contrast between Americans and the peoples of the other countries of the world. Her talk was of constructive concern and fear of the decline of America. She began by saying that she and her husband noticed three basic, distinct things about Americans: Americans are lazy; no common courtesy. and lastly and most important, moral decline. "To me this is frightening!" she said, and went on to say that a fear is constantly with her since her return. A study that her husband did recently showed that past civilizations either rose or fell according to their stand on morality. She pointed out that people say it can't happen here and she followed this with an emphatic, "It can happen here! It is happening here!"

After the program we had an opportunity to meet her and present her with the Divine

Principles!

Our zeal must become greater, our prayers deep and earnest. We are fighting a real war for God - let Satan be cast out of America so that the hearts of our people will turn to the Father and our beloved Master! It is our responsibility. Love and prayers in His Name.
